WOMEN CELEBRATE ENCAMPMENT WORK

Reception of Committees at Riggs House-Testimonials for Officials.

The reunion at the Riggs House Saturday evening of the women's committees of the recent Grand Army encampment proved a pleasing reminder of the week of October 6. The reunion took the form of a reception, given by the women's executive committee to the members of its subcommittees, and was in direct charge of Miss Cornelia Clay and Mrs. William H. Spencer.

Colonel Staples placed the entire second floor of the house at the disposal or the ladies, and from 8 until 10 o'clock they strolled through the corridors and parlors, exchanging greetings and chatting about Grand Army affairs, especially those of the encampment.
